We venture to say there is not a city of its population anywhere in the state where as many colored people own their homes as is the case in this city. This seems to be the center for teachers and preachers. We have ten or twelve teachers living in our midst, who are here every Sabbath working in one or another of the churches. We are blessed with the presence of seven or eight pastors, three of whom are pastoring in the city: the others are working in the pastorate in adjoining fields, but this is their headquarters. We are reliably informed that the ministers of this city and surroundings are preparing to organize a Ministerial Alliance and will then have their regular weekly meetings.
